BREVE JUSTIFICACIÓN (Máximo 250 palabras)

The chief objective of this workshop is to underscore the importance of mastering “real English” for adequate communication in the bilingual classroom. After framing the topic against the broader backdrop of CLIL, EMI, and teacher training needs for bilingual education, the bulk of the sessions will be devoted to familiarizing participants with the concept of “real English”: updated, relevant language chunks which can be directly applied in the bilingual classroom in order to foster successful communicative interaction and basic interpersonal communication skills in both teachers and students. The workshop will begin by explaining what is understood by “real English”. It will then flesh out the most outstanding reasons why we should be learning to speak “real English” and expound on who should be learning it, and will finally capitalize on how to identify, keep up-to-date with, and use these “real English” expressions. A batch of originally designed and tried-and-tested activities will then be carried out to work on “real English” for the CLIL classroom. An eminently hands-on approach will be followed in proceeding from the identification to the practice and, ultimately, to the production of these “real English” expressions. The ultimate aim is to encourage participants to become “English watchers” (Swan 2005: 6) and to familiarize them with the chief means to continue being up-to-date with the lexicon which is really used at present in English-speaking countries and which will enhance their fluency and communicative potential in the bilingual classroom.

OBJETIVOS EXPRESADOS EN TÉRMINOS DE LAS COMPETENCIAS QUE EL ALUMNADO DEBE ALCANZAR

1. To understand the concept of “real English” and the importance of staying up-to-date with the latest goings-on in the English language
2. To become familiar with the main reasons underlying the need to speak updated English
3. To be aware of the chief ways to identify and keep up-to-date with “real English” expressions
4. To master the main types of “real English” expressions
5. To be capable of receptively identifying and productively using an important batch of these expressions for the bilingual classroom

CONTENIDOS

The specific contents are fleshed out below:

1. Introduction: Structure of the workshop

2. The theoretical backdrop

- 2.1. CLIL
- 2.2. EMI
- 2.3. Teacher training needs for bilingual education

3. The concept of “real English”

- 3.1. What is “real English”?
- 3.2. Why should we learn to speak “real English”?

7. Conclusion

METODOLOGÍA

An eminently hands-on approach will be followed in proceeding from the identification to the practice and, ultimately, to the production of these "real English" expressions. By providing practical examples, fostering interactive discussion, and using clips and excerpts from YouTube, the course will guide the participants through the what's, why's, who's, and how's of "real English". Participants will be provided with individual information packages comprising all the materials which will be used as the basis for the sessions.

EVALUACIÓN

In addition to attendance, participation, and active involvement in the discussion sessions and the development of the activities, participants will be asked to put into practice all the knowledge acquired in this course via a final task. Individually or with a classmate, they will prepare a five-minute excerpt of a sample lecture (it can be conducted interactively if carried out in pairs) they would realistically give in one of their subjects, incorporating, in a natural way, a minimum of fifteen "real English" expressions seen in this subject.
